FORMER MONONGAHELA VALLEY MAN AMONG ENTOMBED IN MINE

M. W. Allison, Electrician, Formerly of Dunlevy in Jamison Disaster

EXPLOSION CAUSE UNKNOWN

A former Dunlevy and California man. M W. Allison was among those entombed and killed in the Jamison No. 7 at Barracksville near Fairmont, W. Va., due to an explosion that occurred there shortly after noon Thursday.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. The mine had not been in operation lately and repairs were being made. Mr. Allison being in the crew. Had the mine been operating at least 300 men would have been at the bottom of the shaft which is 312 feet deep. As it is, at least 15 men were shut in the workings, and it is feared not one of them can escape One of the fans was put out of commission but the other was soon repaired so that air is being forced into the shaft. All about the workings the ground is littered with debris that rained down for five minutes after the detonation. Fire resulted. Rescue work was promptly started

Mr. Allison lived some years in Dunlevy, then went to California to be employed in the Vesta No. 4 mine From there he went to West Virginia. He is a son-in-law of Mrs. Kate Donaldson of California and a brother-in-law of Nesley Donaldson of Vesta.

A man by the name of Jones of the Mine Rescue corps of Pittsburg, was killed endeavoring to get some of the entombed miners out of the fated mine.

DISTRICT OFFICERS FAVORED STATES A CHARLEROI MINER

According to a Charleroi miner most of the local unions of the Pittsburg district, United Mine Workers of America have sent in their nominations for district officers to be elected on the second Tuesday of December, over 90 per cent of the nominations being for the present officers ncluding Phillip Murray, presideent; Robert Gibbons, vice president. The Charleroi miner says there has been scattered opposition but this now seems negligible, as a candidate must be nominated by at least five locals before his name can go on the ballots. Indications are for two years of peace in the miners' ranks, since the election is for that time.

MANY HUNTERS IN THE WOODS

Nearly 200 Licenses Taken Out in Charleroi Vicinity in Brief Time

GOOD GAME YEAR REPORTED

With reports that game is plentiful, hunters are numerous these days. Within thelast few days in Charleroi and immediate vicinity about 200 licenses for hunting have been taken out and this indicates just this many nimrods, more or less mightly, have taken to the woods, figuratively speaking.

Squirrels are numerous or not numerous according to the hunter who is telling it. Some have been able to bring home a good sack f ull while their brother hunters have failed. In the mountains the game is good however.

CHARLEROI HIGH TEAM TO PLAY GAME AT UNIONTOWN

The Charleroi high school football team tomorrow will play its first game of the present season with the Uniontown high school eleven, on the Uniontown grounds. This season was delayed greatly by reason of the late start of the schools and the cancellation of the first two games scheduled by the local team. Tomorrow's contest in a sense will be a try-out for the local eleven. The team is well drilled for the game, with an assortment of players equal to that of last year.

ACCUSED OF BURGLARY YOUTH BLAMES MOTHER

REV. SCHEER TREATS OF AUTHORITY IN RELIGION

"Authority in Religion" was the subject of the lecture Thursday night at St. Jerome's church, delivered by Rev. Scheer. He said in part:

"The church's voice must be God's voice; her teaching must be His teaching; her authority must be his authority; what is this but infallibility. Deny infallibility to the church and no man can be certain of the correct answer to the all-important question, "What must I do to possess eternal life?' There can be but one answer and the authority behind it must be as weighty as that of St. Paul when he said, 'If any one, even an angel from heaven preach a gospel besides that which we have preached to you, let him be anathema.

"What do Catholics mean by infallibility as applied to the pope? They mean nothing more than freedom from error in his teaching, when in the name of God he defies for the people of the whole world what the precise revelation of God has been.

"The pope therefore is infallible, first, when he speaks as supreme teacher of the universal church. He is not infallible as a private theologian, preacher of author, as local bishop, archbishop, judge or ruler; second, when he defines a doctrine, when he gives an absolutely final decision; third, when he treats of faith or morals, including the whole word of God and all truths of philosophy and facts of history which are essential to the preservation, explanation and defense of the contents of revelation; fourth, when he clearly manifests his intention to bind the universal church."

Rev. Hays will speak tonight on "The Bible and the Church."

ONES WHO WOULD SURPRISE ARE THEMSELVES SURPRISED

A surprise party with the surprise on the guests was staged Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Dunkerly, a newly married couple at Speers. Plans were being quietly laid by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Dunkerly when the couple by accident while attending a Charleroi show overheard something of the idea. They started a little planning on their own accord.

The affair was to be a masquerade so Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Dunkerly "made up" and before the crowd reached their home, joined them. Arriving there they spent about an hour merry making with the guests. Then Mrs. Dunkerly unmasked and the real fun of the evening came. Guests were present from Allenport, Belle Vernon, Charleroi, Fayette City, and Monongahela. Many beautiful presents were presented to the couple. A lunch which Mrs. Dunkerly had prepared was served. Music, dancing and games were features.

DONORA BOY IS KILLED BY AUTO

Father Sees Lad of Six Run Down as Tot Runs to Meet Him

DODGES FROM AUTO'S PATH

Joseph Zasko, aged 6 years, son of Joseph Zasko, a millworker of Donora, was so badly hurt that he died in ten minutes when run down by an automobile driven by Thomas Harris at Meldon avenue near Sixth street Thursday evening at 5:45 o'clock. The accident took place in the sight of the boy's father, who was on his way home from work.

As he approached Sixth street Harris noticed to the right of the street a jitney bus standing. As he was about to pass the boy ran from in front of the jitney bus, headed across the street to meet his father returning from work. He was struck down and so injured about the head that he died within about ten minutes after being carried to a nearby doctor's office.

Producers Charged With Violation of Sherman Anti-Trust Act

MILK FAMINE STILL FEARED

Federal investigation of the milk situation in the Pittsburg district seems a liklihood, since the announcement Thursday by former Congressman James Francis Burke of Pittsburg, that he had written to the department of justice charging the producers with violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Following the successful effort of the Ohio dairymen to obtain an increase in the price paid them for their product, it looks as though the members of the Tri-State Dairymen's association, largely residents of Washington county and Allegheny county might have their efforts in a similar direction fought to the end. The Pittsburg dealers thought, shippers declare, that by making peace with the Ohio farmers they could secure a supply sufficient to enable them to defy the Tri-State members.

At any rate they say they will not yield to concessions demanded of them Tuesday by the Tri-State association, and the latter as a result is threatening a strike at the end of this week. It is hinted that the Ohio dairymen will strike, too, in support of the Pennsylvania producers, so that Pittsburg is not free from the danger of a milk famine.

The shippers declare they will welcome investigation. A probe will prove, they assert, that their profits are a minus quantity and they have little to do with the increase in price to Pittsburg consumers.

WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION MAY FIGHT HOUSEMAID'S UNION

Monongahela Employers of Domestic Help Object to Paying Prices Asked And Will Do Their Own Work

The recently organized housemaid's union in Monongahela is unlikely to find easy sailing in their effort to advance prices, with war and the increased cost of living asreasons. Women of the only city in Washington county who hire domestic help are contemplating the formation of an association to fight the proposed union and to batter down the prices. Rather than pay, they will do their own work, they say.

The president of the housemaid's union is Mrs. Thomas Brunges and the membership takes in possibly 25. Though the organization was formed only a week ago it is said already there are internal dissensions.

MOTHERS' ASSISTANCE FUND

[illegible] fulness of the law and the necessity [illegible] appropriation.

Two years ago a sum of $1,500 was made available for use of a specially appointed county board in aiding mothers in this county. After necessary expenses were met, amounting in all to a trifle more than $1,000 aid was tendered 35 widows in such a way as to enable them to retain their homes and to keep their families together. That is the prime essential of the fund, to keep families together.

Administration of the fund is through the auspices of a board composed of women who give their time freely to the work. In this way it is far removed from politics and put in the hands of sympathetic ones who best can interpret the needs of those they are expected to aid. Help can be extended only after proper investigation to prove the need and the board is let to determine the amount of a pension that should be granted in each case. To the 36 mothers in this county at least $10 each was given per month and in same cases $16 was paid.

Now the fund is exhausted and the session of the next legislature will have to be awaited for another appropriation. It should be liberal, for if there is any duty to which the commonwealth should be attentive, it is that of properly caring for its mothers.

VIN HEPATICA

System Renovater and Tissue Builder

A Preparation derived from Roots, Barks, Herbs and Berries --- Recommended for Indigestion, Stomach Trouble, Liver Complaint, Kidney Disease, Rheumatism, Catarrah and Nervousness

Vin Hepatica is a prescription of Dr. August Reinhardt a physician of fifty-seven years successful practice, and father of the present proprietor and manufacturer. Dr. Reinhardt spent his entire life perfecting this one remedy, in order to compound a medicine that would be pure and harmless, and yet enable him to cure the afflictions so often encountered by him in his daily practice. During his life time Dr. Reinhardt never allowed the medicine to go out of his control, or to be used by any but his patients, it was with this medicine that he wrought some almost marvelous cures, which made his name so well known over the territory in which he practiced. His last request was to place the medicine on the market for the benefit of suffering humanity, and in each and every case where it failed to benefit to refund the money. Since his death the medicine has been placed on the market, and in order that it may not become confused with the so called patent medicines, it is being placed with only one responsible druggist in any locality. This enables us to keep a personal check on its sale. It is our desire to know whether or not people are being benefited by its use.

The Most Precious Thing is Health

The individual usually begins life with perfect health, but as the years go by with the continued disregard of natures laws, few people enjoy the blessings of health when they arrive at the age of maturity, to secure the return of this ideal condition, nature must be systematically and inteligently assisted in her work of reconstruction, that is of building up the depleted muscles, tissues and general system. This can best be accomplished by the proper use of Vin Hepatica, by its use the vitality of the general system is greatly increased, the impurities of the blood are eliminated, the tissues of the body are fed, and developed, the muscles strengthened and all other organs toned up to their natural solidity and vigor, it virtually brings back the bouyancy of youth. Mr. Skurkay is our personal representative in Monessen, Pa., he is meeting the public daily at his drug store and explaining the merits of Vin Hepatica.

ANAEMIC PEOPLE

Need More Iron in the Blood

If you are anaemic, you need more iron in your blood, and the tell-tale symptoms are a pale face—colorless lips, ashen finger nails, poor circulation and short breath and more serious diseases are easily contracted when in this condition

Mr. W. H. Hodges of Kansas City, Mo., says:—"I suffered from the effects of bad blood, was run-down, dizzy, had headaches and did not feel like working. I had tried Beef Iron and Wine without any help. After taking Vinol four days I noticed an improvement and its continued use built up my blood and my bad feelings disappeared like magic."

The bad effects of poor, devitalized blood cannot be overestimated and it is the beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates contained in Vinol that enriches the blood, improves the circulation and in this natural manner builds up health and strength. Try it on our guarantee.

THE MONEY THEY CARRY.

Poor Men, as a Rule, Have More In Their Pockets Than Rich Men.

The next time you meet John D. Rockefeller just ask him how much money he has in his pocket. Ask him how much he has in the safe at his house or in the safe deposit box at his bank—I mean real old fashioned banknotes and dollar bills. Let me tell you that if at this very moment you and John D. Rockefeller should swap pocketbooks, it would likely get stung. Mr. Rockefeller probably has not a cent more of real money in his pocket today than you have. In a general way this applies to all peoples all over the world. In many communities the poor people carry more money about with them than the rich.

I well remember that once, at my summer home on the coast of Massachusetts, where real money is scarcer than fresh eggs, a very rich man who was visiting us asked me to cash a check for him as he was leaving for New York. On looking into his pocketbook he discovered he had only $7.13! Well I was even worse off, having only a five dollar bill and a few pennies. Even Mrs. Babson could dig up only a few dollars, as we have everything charged and pay by check.

We were just on the point of breaking open a child's bank when a painter working about the house overheard the conversation and suggested that perhaps he could cash a check for $50! This workman had on him a roll of several hundred dollars in bills.—Roger W. Babson in Saturday Evening Post.

BAGPIPES AND BRICKS.

One Case In Which Music Did Not Do the Soothing Act.

The Adelphia buildings in the Strand London, were built by two brothers of the family name of Adam, and from this fraternal union came the name that was given to the buildings, the Greek appellation of "Adelphi" or "the brothers."

These brothers were Scots and in the erection of the buildings desired to employ their own countrymen. So they sent to the "Land o' Cakes and Brither Scots" for laborers to do the work.

The story goes that after they arrived and were set at work they proved less active and energetic than was profitable to the employers, to whom a bright idea finally came. They acted upon this idea and brought to London from the north country a number of bagpipers to encourage the toilers.

At first all went well. When the bricklayers heard "O Hone a Rie," and the "MacGregors' Gathering" they worked rapidly. Unluckily one day one of pipers under the influence of London gin "gave the snap away" by admitting that he and his fellow bagpipers had been bribed to play in quicker time.

Following this exposure of foul play the men from the north put down their tools and found employment elsewhere.—Indianapolis News.

The Longest Fast.

The record for fasting, so far as our best information goes, is held by Graine, a French murderer, who determined to starve himself to death and from day to day after his arrest refused to eat.

In spite of every effort on the part of his keepers, who first tried to tempt him to eat by placing the most dainty meals in his cell and when that failed attempted feeding him by force, he held out for sixty-three days, at the end of which period he died.

With the exception of Graine's case the longest well authenticated instance of fasting on record is that accomplished by Giovanni Succi, who lived at the Royal Aquarium, London, for forty five days without food.

An Emperor's Compliment.

Napoleon III. had his full share of the Bonaparte wit, tinged with a kindliness all his own. At a ball at the Tuileries a middle aged officer and his fair partner came to grief. As the mortified veteran scrambled to his feet the emperor extended a hand to him and, turning to the lady, remarked:

"Madame, this is the second time I have seen the colonel fall. The first time was on the battlefield of Magenta."

GRAFT IN THE ORIENT.

An Incident That Illustrates the Way of the Far East.

I had had experience with corruptible Turkish officers, and one day when barrack conditions became unendurable I went to the officer commanding our division, an old Arab from Damascus who had been called from retirement at the time of the mobilization. He lived in a little tent near the mosque, where I found him squatted on the floor nodding drowsily over his comfortable pipe. As he was an officer of the old regime, I entered boldly, squatted beside him and told him my troubles. The answer came with an enormous shrug of the shoulders.

"You are serving the sultan. Hardship should be sweet."

"I should be more fit to serve him if I got more sleep and rest."

He waved a fat hand about the tent.

"Look at me! Here I am, an officer of rank and"—shooting a knowing look at me—"I have not even a nice bisket."

"A crime! A crime!" I interrupted. "To think of it, when I, a humble soldier, have dozens of them at home! I should be honored if you would allow me"— My voice trailed off suggestively.

"How could you get one?" he asked.

"Oh, I have friends here in Salfet but I must be able to sleep in a nice place."

"Of course. Certainly. What would you suggest?"

"That hotel kept by the Jewish widow might do," I replied.

More amenities were exchanged, the upshot of which was that my four friends and I were given permission to sleep at the inn—a humble place, but infinitely better than the mosque. It was all perfectly simple.—Alexander Aaronsohn in Atlantic Monthly.

MILLION ACRE FARMS.

Those Are the Kind, as a General Rule. They Have In Mexico.

In the United States the farmer is a humble person. In Mexico he is a king of millionaires. You look out across a level plain and you see a magnificent house of stone, cement and great timbers, covering sometimes as much as half an acre. Surrounding it are other houses, hundreds of them, but all small, constructed of adobe, brush or even of cane stalks. You are not looking at a town, but at a ranch settlement. In the great house, which costs many times more than all the little houses put together, live the hacienda dado and his family. In the little houses live the peons.

The typical farm in Mexico is not of 100 acres, but of 1,000,000. In the state of Morelos twenty-eight haciendados own all the agricultural lands, twelve own nine-tenths of them. The territory of Quintana Roo, double the size of Massachusetts, is divided among eight companies. The greater portion of the state of Yucatan is held by thirty men, kings of sisal hemp. A major fraction of the agricultural and grazing lands of Chihuahua is owned by one family. Lower California equal in size to Alabama is nearly all held by five great corporations.

The 1,000,000 acre farm is usually fallow. Naturally a rich agricultural country, Mexico does not produce enough corn and beans to feed her own peon population. Modern machinery is needed, but modern machinery will never be used extensively so long as the peon is so cheap that primitive methods are cheaper than machine methods.—World Outlook.

Drum Fire and Curtain Fire.

"Drum fire" and "curtain fire" are modern war terms. "Drum fire" is the firing of artillery at stated intervals the resultant noise being described as like the steady hammering of a great drum. When the desired effect of reducing the point of the attack has been accomplished the guns are elevated to a higher point and are fired continuously, making a "curtain of fire" to prevent re-enforcements reaching the point of attack from the rear and at the same time allowing the infantry to attack under protection of the guns.

Practical Religion.

The story is told of a little house maid, far over the sea, who, when asked whether she realized that she was in any way different after uniting with the church from what she had been before, thought for an instant and then, smiling brightly, said, "Well, I sweep the corners." She could hardly have given a better demonstration of the reality of her religious life.—Christian Herald.

Not So Far Wrong.

"Have you written all the invitations to my party, mamma?" queried little Eva.

"Yes, dear," answered her mother. "They are all written and mailed."

"And how soon will the acceptions and deceptions begin to come in?"—Chicago News.

Work of a Beacon.

There is a flashing beacon on Richardson rock, a wave swept spot west of the Santa Barbara islands, California, which, without attention, will flash its warnings every three seconds for seven months, or over 6,000,000 flashes, before it requires recharging with gas.—Argonaut.

All Sorts.

"How's this—seven different styles of plug hats?"

"The line officers of our lodge. Each bought a plug hat the year he was elected."—Kansas City Journal.

To dread no eye and to suspect no tongue is the greatest prerogative of innocence.—Dr. Johnson.

Charging It a Bit.

"Are you going to Mrs. Tyresum-Clymer's dinner?"

"No. I have a previous engagement."

"A subsequent engagement?"

"Yes. Only I made it as soon as I heard that Mrs. Tyresum-Clymer was going to give a dinner." Puck.

Fear is conquered not by fleeing, but by boldly facing every danger and fighting.

The First Atlas.

The first modern atlas was the work of Abraham Ortelius, a Dutch geographer, who died 318 years ago. His monumental treatise, entitled "Theatrum Orbis Terrarum," was first published at Antwerp in 1570 and was revised and reissued five times during the author's lifetime. It was a folio volume containing nearly a hundred maps, representing the different countries and continents as they were then known. Although this atlas was a momentous achievement, yet a bright schoolboy today could draw maps from memory with a better approximation to correctness. Even England and Scotland appear in this pioneer volume with amazing distortions of coast line and relative area, and many other maps in the volume bear only a slight resemblance to those of today.—New York World.

An Ant That Spins.

The spinning ant is found in India, in Ceylon, in the islands of Malacca and in Australia. This ant weaves its nest between two leaves of a tree, preferably the mango. It begins to build or to weave by drawing two leaves together. To do this it runs a line of its working material—material similar to the spider's thread—the length of the leaf and around it. While at work it clings to the leaf with its nails and at the same time draws on the leaf nearest to it with its mandibles. Sometimes the two leaves suitable for nest building are too far apart; then the builder calls in its fellow ants, and they help to form a chain. Each ant clings to the waist of its neighbor by its mandibles. Thus enchained, they work to build the nest of their comrade.

That Indefinite Article.

The rule dealing with the indefinite article preceding words commencing with "u" (when pronounced "yu") does not appear to be an adamantine one. Like Macaulay, with his fondness for "an" university, many of our best writers and speakers prefer to ignore the rule and back their fancy in this little question of euphony. As for the man in the street, the matter has long ago been settled in favor of "a" in all cases where the initial "u" has the "yu" sound, partly no doubt because such phrases as "an united people" do not come trippingly off the tongue and have an old fashioned, pedantic flavor and there are sensitive ears that will prefer "a unique" to the more studied "an unique."—London Chronicle.
